Executive Director, Registration Services and Non-State Schools Accreditation Board Secretariat, Department of Education Queensland

Rebecca Storck is the Executive Director of Registration Services and the Non-State Schools Accreditation Board Secretariat within the Queensland Department of Education. With over 30 years of experience in teaching and regulatory roles, she is a highly regarded leader, firmly focused on promoting quality educational outcomes for children and students across Queensland.

Rebecca began her career teaching in early childhood education in mobile kindergartens serving rural and remote communities. She later expanded her teaching experience to include roles in rural New South Wales Primary schools and moved into a leadership position in a non-state secondary boarding school. Over time, her career progressed into regulatory and leadership positions in the early childhood education sector and, subsequently, the non-state schooling sector. In this capacity, Rebecca supports the Board to fulfil its legislative responsibilities effectively.

In her current role, Rebecca is deeply committed to working collaboratively with the non-state school sector, including governing bodies, schools and peak organisations, to ensure the delivery of high-quality education while supporting parental choice in schooling. Through her emphasis on proactive regulation, relationship-driven leadership, and fostering strong stakeholder partnerships, Rebecca continuously drives the mission of empowering Queensland children and families to access exceptional non-state school education opportunities.
