AI PowerEd

Responsible AI
in Schools Summit

Kimberley Hall

AsiaPac Digital Transformation Lead | Google for Education

Kimberley is an award-winning teacher and tech enthusiast with a passion for transforming learning. She has extensive experience in primary, secondary, and higher education, and has collaborated with education systems worldwide as an education leader and a business owner. Kimberley was the first female in Australia to be both a Google for Education Certified Innovator and Certified Trainer. She specializes in helping educators and education systems leverage technology for impactful change. Her work at Google focuses on empowering leaders and learners, building global communities, and fostering innovation through the effective use of Google tools.