AND TRUST

GUEST SPEAKER

Matthew Neale

Project Director, Hammond Land Advisory / Hammond & Neale

Matthew Neale is Project Director of Hammond & Neale, where he specialises in the planning, development and delivery of education projects across Queensland. Over the past 15 years, he has advised independent schools, government and institutional clients on campus master planning, new school development, strategic property acquisitions and major capital works.

Combining expertise in project finance, development management and project delivery, Matthew helps clients unlock the full potential of their property assets while navigating the commercial, planning and delivery challenges of complex projects. Through Hammond Land Advisory, he also works with schools and government to identify and secure future school sites and deliver new educational precincts.

Matthew is a Certified Practising Project Director, a QBCC-licensed Project Manager and a member of the Australian Institute of Project Management. He has successfully led projects with values ranging from several hundred thousand dollars to more than $150 million.
