: in Schools Summit

Paul Hamilton Academy Learning Specialist, Compnow

Paul Hamilton is an Academy Learning Specialist at Compnow, working with enterprise teams and schools to unlock the practical, creative, and ethical use of AI at scale. With a background spanning education and industry, Paul specialises in helping organisations move beyond hype and embed AI into real workflows that improve productivity, creativity, and confidence.

A Canva Enterprise Certified Trainer and Apple Professional Learning Specialist, Paul is known for designing hands-on learning experiences that show how AI and design tools can transform collaboration, storytelling, and problem-solving across classrooms and boardrooms alike.

Paul is also the creator of innovative AI-powered products, including Story Coach AI, blending narrative design, creativity, and responsible AI to support learners in developing literacy skills. Alongside his work as an app developer, keynote speaker, and picture book author, Paul continues to push the boundaries of how AI can be used as a creative companion, not a replacement, for human thinking.
