AI PowerEd : Responsible AI in Schools Summit

Matt Davis
IT Manager, The Rockhampton Grammar School

Matt Davis is the IT Manager at The Rockhampton Grammar School, where he works at the intersection of technology, risk, and day to day reality. He drives cybersecurity, infrastructure, and digital change across a P–12 environment, with a strong focus on systems that are sustainable, understandable, and actually used.

Matt is closely involved in the school's approach to AI, concentrating on practical use, clear guardrails, and building staff capability rather than chasing novelty. He's particularly interested in reducing hidden technical debt, avoiding single point dependency, and designing technology that quietly improves how people work.
