School Governance Training

Today's education stakeholders expect independent school governing bodies to be capable to competently govern their school within an increasingly complex regulatory and economically competitive environment. The challenge for governing boards is to achieve the right balance between monitoring risk, compliance and performance, while strategically directing the school into the future.

School boards that value ongoing governance training demonstrate that they take the fiduciary duties they have accepted as stewards of their organisations seriously. They also set an example for the lifelong learning they espouse for their students.

Independent Schools Queensland (ISQ) is committed to supporting member schools through its provision of high-quality professional learning and bespoke services. The Independent Schools Governance Program is one of ISQ's flagship programs developed specifically for an independent school setting and offers a wide range of school governance training options to suit all school contexts.

ISQ's school governance professional learning provides relevant, timely and enjoyable training and support to those on governing bodies and senior executive teams of independent schools in Queensland. Each program is tailored to ensure participants understand their role and obligations, and instils them with the confidence to lead as a school governor. For senior executives, the program offers a comprehensive understanding of good governance, the role and responsibility of management, and how to effectively support the governing process.

Choose from a wealth of relevant, in-depth professional learning programs and masterclasses and harness the expertise of ISQ at every stage of your governance journey. ISQ's induction workshops are designed to assist those new to boards, while the industry-leading ISQ School Governance Course is the ideal option for those looking to build their capacity. Experienced governors can benefit from ISQ's governance masterclasses and bespoke training solutions, proving ISQ is the premier governance partner for Queensland's independent schooling sector.

ISQ School Governance Course

The ISQ School Governance Course is the leading governance training option for Queensland's independent schooling sector. This industry-specific, comprehensive training program is designed for school governing body members and senior executives who want to place their governance capabilities on a firm footing. Successful completion of the ISQ School Governance Course empowers participants to confidently fulfil their governance duties and add value to their organisation.

ISQ Self-Paced Governance Learning Modules

ISQ offers three online learning modules for school governing body members who want to gain a basic understanding of their governance responsibilities at their own pace.

Child Protection for Principals and Board Directors aims to assist governing body members to be aware of the legislated child protection reporting responsibilities applicable to independent schools in Queensland. This forms one step that schools must take to create child safe organisations. VIEW NOW

Governance Induction consists of three self-paced learning units and supports governing body members to gain an understanding of the roles and responsibilities of directors and boards, and of the policies and processes that boards must develop, implement and maintain to ensure efficiency, transparency and compliance. VIEW NOW

Governance Finance teaches basic financial literacy skills to board members with little or no prior knowledge in interpreting financial statements. The four learning units in this self-paced module develop board members' capability to make informed judgements about the financial situation of their school. VIEW NOW
